SCHOLARLY PUBLICATIONS

State Lands in Modern Public Land Law

36 STANFORD ENVIRONMENTAL LAW JOURNAL 147-217 (2017)

- The article situates state lands in relation to two modern movements – “keep it in the ground” and the western land-transfer movement - to show how national concerns over the uses of public land, and the impacts of energy development on environmental goals, implicate state lands and their legal regimes.

Fairness in the Low-Carbon Shift: Learning from Environmental Justice

82 BROOKLYN LAW REVIEW 789-824 (2017)

- This article argues environmental justice should inform notions of fairness in the energy space and guide development of evolving energy law regimes.

Cities and the Low-Carbon Grid

46 ENVIRONMENTAL LAW 101-54 (2016)

- This article maps the evolving landscape for US cities working to align their electricity profile with community climate aspirations in the low-carbon energy transition.

The Obama Administration's Clean Air Act Legacy and the UNFCCC

48 CASE WESTERN RESERVE JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL LAW 1-17 (2016)

- This essay considers the Obama Administration's Clean Air Act regulatory agenda in the context of domestic obligations under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change.

Prospects for Public Power and Distributed Renewable Energy

45 ENVIRONMENTAL LAW REPORTER 10537-42 (2015)

- This short article explores the assertion that publicly-owned utilities are better positioned to meet the challenges associated with increasing distributed renewable energy generation.

Intrastate Preemption in the Shifting Energy Sector

86 COLORADO LAW REVIEW 927-90 (2015)

- This piece argues that although federalism has dominated the literature on energy transition, trends in natural gas and wind development show that the state-local relationship and intrastate preemption are shaping energy policy in important and under-examined ways.

Legal Regimes for Land Use, Land Use Change, and Forestry in the United States

Book Chapter in G. VAN CALSTER & W. VANDENBERGHE, EDS., RESEARCH HANDBOOK ON CLIMATE CHANGE MITIGATION LAW 321-343 (Edward Elgar 2015)

- In this comparative law volume, the chapter offers an introduction to the legal regimes that structure the potential of land use and forestry to advance climate change mitigation goals in the US.

Environmental Law and Fossil Fuels: Barriers to Renewable Energy

65 VANDERBILT LAW REVIEW 1679-1721 (2012)

- The article evaluates the relationship between fossil fuels and environmental law, and implications of that relationship for renewable energy development.

Environmental Justice in the Renewable Energy Transition

19 JOURNAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL & SUSTAINABILITY LAW 60-122 (2012) (Inaugural Issue)

- This article highlights the environmental justice risks and opportunities in renewable energy policy and project development under existing legal regimes.

The Energy-Land Use Nexus

27 JOURNAL OF LAND USE & ENVIRONMENTAL LAW 245-57 (2012)

- The essay articulates key interrelationships between energy and land use and shows how this nexus should frame for policymaking to minimize conflict between energy and land use goals.

Local Promise for Climate Mitigation: An Empirical Assessment (with Richard Feiock)

36 WILLIAM & MARY ENVIRONMENTAL LAW AND POLICY REVIEW 635-70 (2012)

- This interdisciplinary work contributes empirical grounding to the literature in law and public policy on local governments and climate mitigation.

The Renewable Energy Footprint

30 STANFORD ENVIRONMENTAL LAW JOURNAL 241-309 (2011)

- This article draws attention to cumulative land impacts of renewable energy expansion and makes the case for “energy sprawl” as a central consideration for siting energy infrastructure.
- Reprinted, in part, in HARI M. OSOFSKY & LESLEY K. MCALLISTER, CLIMATE CHANGE LAW AND POLICY (2012)

Siting Renewable Energy: Land Use and Regulatory Context

37 ECOLOGY LAW QUARTERLY 1041-1105 (2010)

- The article shows how state and local governments can guide renewable energy siting for environmental and community compatibility.
- Reprinted in entirety, ZONING AND PLANNING LAW HANDBOOK 2012 (Thomson Reuters 2012)

NEPA and Environmental Justice: Integration, Implementation, and Judicial Review

33 BOSTON COLLEGE ENVIRONMENTAL AFFAIRS LAW REVIEW 601-25 (2006)

- The article evaluates the limits and potential of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) as a tool for addressing environmental justice concerns.
- First Place winner, Third Annual American Bar Association Environmental Justice Essay Competition

Comment, Environmental Injustice and the Problem of the Law, 57 MAINE LAW REVIEW 209-58 (2005)
