BIO

Born in Toronto, Raj is a dual Canadian-U.S. citizen. Raj holds the inaugural Leo. S. Brenneisen Distinguished Professorship (2017-present) at the University of Kansas School of Law, before which he held the Rice Distinguished Professorship (2003-2017). Both are university-level chairs, the highest scholarly accolade in Kansas. He served as KU's Associate Dean for International and Comparative Law (2011-2017). He is a Fulbright Specialist (2024-2027) in Law and Literature and International Trade Law. Ingram's Business Magazine designated him as one of "50 Kansans You Should Know" (<https://ingrams.com/article/50-kansas-you-should-know-the-class-of-2020/>).

In November 2024, The Great Courses Plus selected Raj to create a video course, How Trade Really Works. Since 1990, The Great Courses Plus has produced courses for a world-wide audience of millions of life-long learners. Only the "world's greatest professors and experts," who are the "top 1 percent of all professors," or "1 in 5,000 professors," are chosen, to be on The Great Courses Plus faculty. Like the other trusted faculty, Raj was picked based on newspaper write ups, published evaluations, teaching awards, and an audition. The Trade course, consisting of 24 30-minute lectures, is scheduled to debut in 2026-2027.

Raj has taught full-time at The George Washington University School of Law (1998-2003), where he held a Chaired Professorship, and William & Mary Law School (1993-1998), where he was voted tenure. He also has taught at the law schools at Auckland (where he was New Zealand's Legal Research Foundation Visiting Scholar), LaTrobe (Melbourne), across the Indian Sub-Continent, Hong Kong and Taiwan, Tel Aviv and the Gulf, and Duke and Michigan.

Raj practiced at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York (1989-1993), where he twice won the President's Award for Excellence thanks to his service as a delegate to the United Nations Conference on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL). He was Senior Advisor to Dentons U.S. LLP, the world's largest law firm, focusing on international and comparative legal matters (2017-2023). He is a member of the Speaker Program of the U.S. Department of State. A Harvard Law School graduate (Cum Laude, 1989), he completed Masters degrees as a Marshall Scholar (1984-1986) at LSE (1985) and Oxford (1986), and an undergraduate degree at Duke (Summa Cum Laude, Phi Beta Kappa, 1984) as an Angier B. Duke Scholar.

Raj has authored 13 books. His eight-volume International Trade Law: A Comprehensive E-Textbook (6th revised edition, 2025), is one of the world's leading references in the field that, across all of its editions, over 100 law schools around the world have used (www.dropbox.com/s/78sagrsm4g30k4g/R%20Bhala%20Book%20Launch.mp4?dl=0). It is freely available via Open Access on KU Scholar Works. Raj wrote the first treatise on GATT in nearly 50 years, the two-volume Modern GATT Law (2nd edition, 2013). His books also include Trade War: Causes, Conduct, and Consequences of Sino-American Confrontation (2024) and TPP Objectively: Legal, Economic, and National Security Dimensions of CPTPP (2nd edition, 2020). He is the first non-Muslim American scholar to write a textbook on Islamic Law, Understanding Islamic Law (Shari'a) (3rd edition, 2023).

Raj's current book project is Principles of Law, Literature, and Rhetoric: A Shakespearean Approach. Raj also has authored and co-authored 100 scholarly law review articles, particularly in Law and Literature and International Trade Law.

Given Raj's scholarship and teaching at the intersection of International Trade Law and Law and Literature, in December 2024, Humanities Kansas selected him as its Featured Scholar for its Big Idea Series (Winter/Spring 2025). The Series theme was "East to Midwest: Asian American Perspectives in Kansas." His essay and presentation, "From International Trade to Shakespeare's Stage: Asian American Angles on Law and Literature," were widely distributed, including to the general public, museum and library directors, and faculty, and on YouTube (www.youtube.com/watch?v=78v7-y8M47Q).

Media world-wide frequently call upon Raj. From January 2017-October 2022, "On Point" was his regular column on International Law and Economics, which Bloomberg Quint / BQ Prime (Mumbai) published (www.ndtvprofit.com/author/92714/raj-bhala) and distributed to approximately 6.2 million readers worldwide.

Raj serves on the Executive Board of Directors of the Carriage Club of Kansas City, and the Alumni Association Board of University School Milwaukee (his alma mater). He loves fitness cross-training, has finished 115 marathons, including the "Big Five" of the "World's Majors" (Boston twice, New York twice, Chicago twice, Berlin, and London), and enthusiastically studies Shakespeare and baseball. He is blessed to have studied, worked, and/or played in 50 countries.

WTO CASE REVIEW SERIES
(with Professor David Gantz, University of Arizona)

This annual series on substantive international trade adjudications analyzed Appellate Body Reports adopted by the WTO Dispute Settlement Body (DSB) during the preceding calendar year (1 January-31 December), excluding compliance decisions, from 2020 until the December 2019 demise of the Appellate Body. It was the longest running such series in the world.

AMICUS CURAE BRIEFS

- (1) United States Supreme Court, *United States v. Eurodif S.A., Nos. 07-1059 and 07-1078, September 2008, 555 U.S. 305 (2009), 129 S.Ct. 878 (2009). (34-page brief)

Case involving French company alleged to have dumped enriched uranium in the United States market. Amicus brief focused on whether the antidumping (AD) rules of the World Trade Organization (WTO) and United States apply to services, as distinct from goods. The brief argued they do not, a point with which the Court did not take issue. Justice Souter wrote for the Court, in a 9-0 decision. The Court held the Department of Commerce (DOC) reasonably treated the enriched uranium at issue as a “good” subject to AD law, rather than a service exempt under that law. As the Court focused on the Chevron standard of administrative review (deferring to the DOC’s interpretation), it found no need to reach the issue addressed by the brief.

- (2) United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, *HMTX Industries v. United States Trade Representative, No. 23-891, July 2023 (34-page brief).

Case arising amidst the Sino-American Trade War raising the question whether the USTR has, under Section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, the statutory authority to impose new tariffs on hundreds of billions of dollars of Chinese-origin imported goods, without regard for the detailed procedural and substantive limitations in relevant portions of Title 19 of the United States Code, just because China retaliated against the United States after USTR had imposed tariffs on $50 billion in goods from China. In effect, at issue was the extent of Presidential authority under Section 301.
